: A Journey of Sustainable Farming and Community Empowerment

Nestled in the rolling hills of upstate New York, Eva of the Farm stands as a testament to the transformative power of sustainable agriculture and the unwavering dedication of its founder, Dia Calhoun. With a deep-rooted belief in the interconnectedness of nature and community, Dia has dedicated her life to fostering a more just and sustainable food system, one farm at a time.

A Path to Purpose: The Seeds of Passion

Born and raised in New York City, Dia's connection to the land was initially limited to the occasional visit to a community garden. However, a transformative experience at a summer camp in upstate New York sparked a passion within her that would forever shape her path. Surrounded by lush fields and organic gardens, Dia discovered the joy of growing food and the profound impact it could have on individuals and communities.

The Birth of Eva of the Farm: A Vision of Sustainable Agriculture

Armed with a degree in agriculture and a heart filled with determination, Dia returned to her roots in New York City. In 2007, she launched Eva of the Farm, an urban agriculture project that sought to connect city dwellers with the source of their food. Through farmer's markets, workshops, and educational programs, Dia shared her knowledge of sustainable farming practices and the importance of eating locally grown produce.

Expanding Roots: The Farm in Amenia

In 2011, Dia's vision took a significant step forward with the acquisition of a 160-acre farm in Amenia, New York. This fertile land became the heart of Eva of the Farm, where Dia implemented regenerative agriculture practices that restored soil health, reduced pesticide use, and promoted biodiversity.

A Holistic Approach: Fostering Farm-to-Table Connections

Eva of the Farm is not merely a farm but a vibrant community hub that embraces a farm-to-table ethos. Dia and her team collaborate with local chefs, restaurants, and food distributors to ensure that their sustainably grown produce reaches consumers far and wide. This commitment to transparency and traceability empowers both farmers and consumers, building trust and fostering a deeper appreciation for the food we eat.

Community Empowerment: Empowering Local Farmers and Strengthening Food Security

Beyond its role as a sustainable food producer, Eva of the Farm is a catalyst for social change. The farm provides training and support to aspiring farmers, particularly women and marginalized communities, empowering them to establish their own successful agricultural enterprises. Through community-supported agriculture (CSA) programs, Eva of the Farm also ensures that local residents have access to fresh, affordable, and nutritious food, regardless of their income level.

Education and Advocacy: Inspiring the Next Generation of Farmers

Dia's passion for education extends beyond the farm gates. She is a sought-after speaker and lecturer, sharing her insights on sustainable farming and the importance of supporting local food systems. Eva of the Farm also hosts regular workshops, tours, and educational programs for students, farmers, and the general public, fostering a greater understanding of the challenges and opportunities facing the agricultural sector.

Recognition and Impact: A Legacy of Sustainable Farming

Dia Calhoun's unwavering dedication to sustainable farming and community empowerment has garnered widespread recognition. She has been featured in numerous publications, including The New York Times, Vogue, and Forbes, and has received accolades from organizations such as the James Beard Foundation and the United Nations. Eva of the Farm has become a model for sustainable agriculture and a beacon of hope for a more just and equitable food system.

: A Visionary Farmer and a Source of Inspiration

Dia Calhoun's journey as Eva of the Farm is a testament to the power of one person's passion and commitment to making a positive impact on the world. Through her tireless efforts, she has transformed the agricultural landscape, empowered communities, and inspired countless others to embrace sustainable farming practices. Eva of the Farm stands as a beacon of hope, demonstrating that a more sustainable and just food system is not only possible but essential for the health of our planet and generations to come.
