The story revolves around the intertwined lives of three brothers: Edmund, Simon, and Guy de Montfort. Edmund, the eldest, is a cunning and ambitious man, determined to rise through the ranks of the nobility. Simon, the middle brother, is a devout man of God, torn between his religious vows and his loyalty to his family. Guy, the youngest, is a reckless and impetuous knight, eager to prove his worth.

The brothers' lives are forever changed when they meet Alianor of Brittany, a beautiful and enigmatic woman. Edmund is immediately smitten with Alianor, and he sets out to win her hand in marriage. However, his plans are thwarted by Simon, who has fallen in love with Alianor himself.

As the brothers vie for Alianor's affection, their rivalry intensifies, driving them down a path of betrayal and violence. Edmund, consumed by his ambition, hatches a plot to murder Simon. But his plan is foiled, and Simon is left for dead.

In the aftermath of the tragedy, Guy vows to avenge his brother's death. He sets out on a quest to find Edmund and bring him to justice. Along the way, he encounters a mysterious woman known only as the Fox. The Fox is a cunning and resourceful woman, and she agrees to help Guy in his quest.

Together, Guy and the Fox track down Edmund, and a final confrontation ensues. In a bloody and brutal battle, Guy defeats his brother, avenging Simon's death.
