

The Sermons of Reverend Nix: An American Made Music Series

The Sermons of Reverend Nix is a new American made music series that explores the intersection of music, faith, and culture. The series features performances by some of the most talented musicians in the country, as well as interviews with leading scholars and theologians.

The series is the brainchild of Reverend Nix, a musician and theologian who has spent his life exploring the connections between music and the sacred. Nix believes that music has the power to heal, inspire, and transform, and he hopes that the series will help to bring people together from all walks of life.

The first season of The Sermons of Reverend Nix features performances by a diverse array of artists, including gospel singer Mavis Staples, country singer Emmylou Harris, and rock musician Jackson Browne. The series also features interviews with scholars such as Dr. Cornel West and Dr. Robert P. Jones.
